

ANKUSH ARORA

COMMUNICATIONS OFFICER

Ankush joins the Institute for Transformative Technologies (ITT) as a Communication Officer based out of Mumbai, after working as a journalist for nearly a decade. He looks after external and internal communication strategies for ITT's portfolio in healthcare, sanitation, and electrification.

He has worked across print, broadcast and digital media. As a web producer at Reuters for more than five years, he tracked the stock market, managed online news content, and reported on art and culture. Before Reuters, he produced news shows at NDTV in New Delhi. He began his career as a sub-editor at The Indian Express.

Ankush studied English literature from the University of Delhi, and has a degree in journalism from the Indian Institute of Mass Communication. In his free time, he enjoys photography, Indian classical music, cinema and reading fiction.

To reach Ankush, please send him an email at ankush@transformativetechnologies.org