

JASON ASUNCION

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

Jason comes to the Institute of Transformative Technologies with over 12 years experience in defining and leading internal operating processes across finance, HR, IT and procurement functions.

Prior to ITT, Jason was a founding member of Dalberg Global Development Advisors, an international development strategy consultancy. He supported the growth of the firm from 4 to over 300 employees and from 2 to 14 office locations around the world.

In his latest role, he held primary responsibility for quality control of global accounting and financial operations, for financial reports and analyses, and for global financial administration. He worked with the leadership team and with regional finance staff across all Dalberg offices around the world. Early in Dalberg's growth, Jason was responsible for defining and executing internal processes for recruitment, benefits administration, payroll, expense reimbursement, procurement, IT support, and knowledge management. Before Dalberg, Jason worked for the United Nations Development Programme.

Jason was born in the Philippines and now lives in San Francisco with his wife and one year old son, and their two dogs. He enjoys motorcycling, basketball and road trips along the California coast.

To reach Jason, send him an email at jason@transformativetechnologies.org